

Dear Me Letter Assignment

Write a letter to yourself that you will read at the end of 8th grade. In this letter, address the “you” you would like to become in your final year of middle school. Be sure to include the following topics and adhere to the form of a letter:

- What past experiences in education have shaped you? What teachers or lessons inspired you? What teaching styles or subjects have made you lose confidence, lose your temper, or shut down? What will you do this year to change your negative behaviors or feelings about school and your future?
- What do you wish your teacher would have known about you?
- Give yourself your very best advice. You know you better than anyone, so write a one-paragraph pep-talk for yourself addressing some of your flaws, troubles you face outside of school, and personal weakness. What will you do when you are down or facing personal failure?
- What goals do you have this year that you will accomplish by the end of the year? These can be personal, academic, behavioral, or social, but must include real plans for change.
- By the end of the year, what type of reputation will you have created for yourself? How will teachers, friends, peers, and family members describe your character?

Dear Me Letter Assignment

Write a letter to yourself that you will read at the end of 8th grade. In this letter, address the “you” you would like to become in your final year of middle school. Be sure to include the following topics and adhere to the form of a letter:

- What past experiences in education have shaped you? What teachers or lessons inspired you? What teaching styles or subjects have made you lose confidence, lose your temper, or shut down? What will you do this year to change your negative behaviors or feelings about school and your future?
- What do you wish your teacher would have known about you?
- Give yourself your very best advice. You know you better than anyone, so write a one-paragraph pep-talk for yourself addressing some of your flaws, troubles you face outside of school, and personal weakness. What will you do when you are down or facing personal failure?
- What goals do you have this year that you will accomplish by the end of the year? These can be personal, academic, behavioral, or social, but must include real plans for change.
- By the end of the year, what type of reputation will you have created for yourself? How will teachers, friends, peers, and family members describe your character?